

Seniors, Science Majors Dominate Deans List

A total of 63 students were placed on the Dean's List of Distinguished Students for the attainment of a B average for the semester ending May 28, 1962. This figure represents 7.85% of the total enrollment for last year. Of that 63, there were 27 of last year's graduating class, 116 students from the present senior class; a total of 10 students from the present junior class and 9 students from the sophomore class.

A breakdown of the list shows that the largest percentage comes from the B.S. science majors who made up 3.95% of the total.

Twelve New Members Added To Faculty

The new academic year sees the arrival of twelve new faculty members at Evergreen. They will fill positions in five departments. Four new members have been added to the science department. Dr. Jacob Fisher, Dr. John L. Zaharis, and Mr. Mitchell Twardowicz, Jr. will teach biology, and Mr. Larry Haines will teach physics. Dr. Fisher and Mr. Twardowicz are both native Baltimoreans and received their bachelors of science at Loyola. Dr. Fisher took his masters and Ph.D at Catholic University. Among Dr. Fisher's many accomplishments is his Carrell Gold Medal for Biology from Loyola in 1949. A graduate of Loyola High School, Mr. Twardowicz received his M.S. from Marquette University.

Dr. Zaharis graduated from Cheverus High School in Portland, Maine, in 1947 and received his B.S. and M.S. from Oklahoma University. He was awarded his Ph.D. from Kansas State in 1960.

Physics Addition
A native of Middletown, Ohio, Mr. Haines graduated from Towson Senior High School. He received his A.B. from the Hopkins in 1959 and expects to receive his M.A. in physics from that institution next month.

Dr. John Van Der Wens, a native of The Hague, will join the department of modern languages as teacher of intermediate French. Dr. Van Der Wens, who holds dual citizenship in the Netherlands and Argentina, received his bachelor's degree from Colegio Nacional D.S. Sarmiento in Buenos Aires and a doctor of laws degree from Buenos Aires University Law School. He is the son of a member of the Dutch diplomatic service.

The Loyola philosophy department will add Rev. Albert H. Jenemann, S.J., and Mr. Brian O. McDermott, S.J.

On Saturday evening, October 13, 1962, the Sophomore class will present the annual Freshman Welcome Dance. According to Bill Scholtes, President of the class of 1965, this year's dance promises to be even bigger than last year's despite the decrease in Freshman enrollment. Bill, who is acting as general chairman of the affair, attributes this to the fact that two bands will be performing for the pleasure of the dancers in attendance.

The affair will be held from nine till one in the Loyola College Gymnasium. Deny Keating, Chairman of the decorations committee, plans to adorn the gym in a fashion which will suggest the theme, "An Introduction to Campus Life."

Two Bands

The unusual facet of the dance is the fact that there will be two bands playing. This will mark the first time in several years that has occurred. Both the Merrill Timmons' Orchestra and the Tempests are scheduled to supply the music. Thus it appears that there will be music to satisfy everyone's taste, whether it be dance or rock'n roll.

John Herrman, Sophomore Class Treasurer, is in charge of ticket sales. Assisting him in this task are Bill Scholtes and Orv Mowbray of the class of '65, Chuck Lancelotta of the class of '64, and Ed Slawski of the class of '63. The price of the tickets are reasonably priced at $3.25 per couple.

Dress Sunday Best

John Herrman, Vice-President of the class of '65, is chairman of the Reservations Committee, while Bob Quirk, class representative, is taking care of refreshments.

Orv Mowbray, Chairman of the Publicity Committee and class Secretary, reports that the dress for the dance is Sunday best. Orv is responsible for the advertisement which appears in the Student Center.

Movie Seminar Starts Oct. 12

Father King has announced that on Friday, October 12, Loyola will conduct the first meeting of a Film Seminar to be held on campus this semester. The purpose of these meetings will be to enable students to learn to evaluate the movies which they see at theatres and on television. Each meeting will be divided into two parts: there will be a showing of a feature film in Ruzick Hall at 7:45; immediately following the film, the members will convene in the Student Lounge for approximately one hour to discuss what made the movie a success and what its weak points are.

All students are invited to join. Those interested may sign up in the Dean of Men's office between now and Wednesday, October 10. Those who join are expected to attend each meeting.

The film seminar will be held one Friday a month; the dates for the meetings are: October 12--Born Yesterday; November 9--From Here To Eternity; December 7--All The King's Men; and January 11--On The Waterfront.

Editorial Twisting and Mixing

One of the most phenomenal turnouts in Loyola's social history occurred last Friday evening. The event was the Academy of Student Orientation's first mixer, initiating Loyola's social season. Hundreds of charming young ladies from St. Joseph's College, Emmitsburg, and Notre Dame College poured from chartered busses until both the cafeteria and lounge were filled beyond capacity.

The mixer brought with it several other "firsts" to the Loyola campus. The "Sterlings," an excellent band, freely supplied the music for the occasion; formerly records had sufficed. The social was also the first one attended here by St. Joseph's College in several years. All the students thoroughly enjoyed themselves at the event, from all appearances.

The first social event of the semester is now past. However, yet to come are The Rugby Game, The Dramatic Society's forthcoming play, The Freshmen Welcome Dance, The Military Ball, and several other social, co-curricular, extra-curricular, and athletic events. These activities and social events are held solely for the enjoyment of the student body; and this year's future events should be patronized with as much vitality as characterized our first mixer, for the benefit of all.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The Cooperative Government Association of St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg is having their annual dance, Harvest on the Moon, in the Student Center from 8:30 to 12:00 p.m. on Saturday, October 6. The purpose of the affair is to make friends, not a profit, so the admission is free.

Although we have already sent Loyola a formal invitation, we would like to reiterate this with a personal one since you were so hospitable to us Friday. We had a tremendous time and hope that the two schools will be able to get together more often.

We look forward to seeing you and hope that many will be able to come.

Sincerely,
Ann Casey
Social Committee

Dear Sir:

Last Friday, September 28, I attended Loyola's first mixer. From reports of the upperclassmen this was the first such mixer to be held in several years by the school. The Green and Gray club handled the task of publication quite efficiently and I'm sure that all are grateful to them for a job well done.

The turnout by Loyola students was terrific. The students also represented themselves very well in their conduct.

I do hope that throughout the coming year, the faculty will allow the student body to put on other mixers. I hope, furthermore, that the student body will receive future ones as well as they did this one.

Sincerely,
August A. Viacowitz

Off The Record

The many features of this column will include information about the musical activities of our city and campus, suggestions and hints on record buying, critical and appraising comments on live performances as well as on old and new recordings, and commentaries on the history, current movements, and progression in all the fields of music. It is hoped that a larger number of you will be stimulated to a more active participation in the various areas of music listening and appreciation. Also, in this direction, it is hoped that listening and appreciation fields will broaden, encompassing an area worthy of the man with a liberal education. This would also imply that our "died-in-the-wool" students will admit, at least, the existence of other forms of music and consider a more aggressive approach to music heretofore distasteful.

Unknown & Inexpensive Concerts

Very often complaints of lack of awareness of current performances are given for the poor attendance to these civic sponsored musical activities. And many times complaints of too exorbitant admission prices are also given for non-attendance. Our column shall attempt to inform you of less expensive rates, especially those applying to students. For example, the Baltimore Symphony Pop Concerts on Saturday nights have special student rates at only $.50, and for a good seat. The Music Club on our campus has a bulletin board upstairs in the student center containing further information along these lines. May we suggest that watching this board will prove extremely beneficial to you.

Criticism

We hope our comments will provoke some wider interests and instruction in music. Perhaps your favorite popular, jazz, classical, or musical comedy composer will appear in our column with new insights into the comprehension of his art; on the other hand, composers of lesser stature in your mind may offer new experiences in your music appreciation. Our aim is to be as beneficial as possible to you in creating a more liberal interest in music. This benefit will also extend to recordings as the interest in high fidelity equipment and recording has mushroomed.

The Music Club is hopeful that you will watch for and read these periodic columns, expressing your opinions and criticisms to us. In this manner we can progress toward the complete benefit of the student body and promote all the pleasures of music to everyone.

Comment

Oxford, Mississippi, is a small, rather typical southern town which has remained substantially unchanged since the Reconstruction. There are three features, however, that distinguish this slow-moving hamlet from any other town in the United States. First, the University of Mississippi is located there. Second, it is William Faulkner's birthplace. Last, it is the center for the greatest challenge to Federal power since the Civil War.

False Doctrine

The chief antagonist in this struggle is Gov. Ross Barnett. For justification, Barnett uses the doctrine of interposition which is a direct linear descendant of the fossilized Doctrine of Nullification. Despite its datedness, the theory still has some appeal among the ante-bellum minds in Mississippi.

Because of recent events, Mississippi has become the bastion of the white supremacy way of life. Several southern leaders have given Barnett their support. Working through Citizen Councils, rather than the Ku Klux Klan, the whites have retained the segregation of their state. Now, under considerable pressure by the Justice Department and faced with repeated Court decisions to integrate, Barnett has chosen to abandon peaceful means.

The most unfortunate factor in the entire affair is that no one stands to gain from it. Mississippi's chances of success in attacking the entire Federal government are indeed miniscule. President Kennedy stands to lose a large amount of his support in the South for his stand. The University of Mississippi may well suffer another tremendous loss in its hard-won prestige.

Prestige Factor

The only person who could possibly profit from this fiasco is Gov. Barnett. He was elected governor on a straight segregation ticket. It seems now that his aim is to insure his election to the Senate. The only ones who can successfully thwart him are the honest and sensible citizens of his state. Thus far they have been silent.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column has been the first of a series of articles based on today's world tensions. The Greyhound welcomes the opinion of Loyola's students and faculty members on this new features.

Unfortunately . . . !?

In November, 1857, a frontiersman named Osgood Z'beard single-handedly killed twelve bears in hand to hand combat. Unfortunately, he was fighting thirteen bears at the time.

In October, 1824, Wolfgang von Liechtenstein discovered a cure for which there was no disease. Unfortunately, just as he was to be honored by the Viennese Medical Society he died of the cure.

John Thomas Goering, the night superintendent for the Frothing-slosh Ale Co., speaks 387 languages fluently. Unfortunately, none of these can be understood.

in Philadelphia, received his A. B. from Spring Hill College in 1954 and his S. T. L. from Boston College in 1961. He taught at Loyola High School in Baltimore from 1954 to 1957.

A native of Brooklyn, New York, Mr. McDermott received his A. B. and Ph.D. from Fordham University in 1961.

History Teachers

Joining the history department for the new fall term will be Mr. Vincente R. Pilapil and Rev. William M. King, S. J. Mr. Pilapil, a native of the Philippine Islands, received his A. B. from the University of San Carlos in the Philippines in 1959 and his M. A. from the Catholic University in 1961.

Father King received his A. B. and M. A. degrees from Loyola University of Chicago. He was awarded his licentiate in philosophy at West Baden College in Indiana and his licentiate in theology at Woodstock

College in Maryland.

The mathematics department has added Mr. Martin G. Horak, Baltimorean and graduate of Calvert Hall College and Loyola College. Mr. Horak received his M. S. from the University of Notre Dame in 1960 and has recently been engaged in doing research for the government.

English Department

Dr. Litz, the English Department's latest addition, makes his home in Baltimore and received his doctorate from Johns Hopkins University. Dr. Litz taught at the Catholic University for several years and has published numerous articles on 18th century literature.

We welcome the new members to our faculty and hope that their stay will be a pleasant one. At this time of welcoming new faculty members, we would also bid farewell to the members who have left us: Miss Reinecke, Mr. Heisey, Mr. Strauch, Dr. Negherbon, Dr. Duffy, and Captain Frydendall.

Council Clippings

A vital piece of legislation that has been under consideration for several years is the subject of this column today. An ordinance providing for the codification of the rights and duties of the individual classes of Loyola Collegewas adopted by a vote of 11-0 in the Student Council in August. This ordinance is presently being considered by the Administration for approval. If approved, the ordinance will bring about significant changes in student life at Loyola. Some of the more important provisions of this ordinance are discussed briefly below.

Class Requirements

Each class will have an Executive Board, which will be the governing body of the class. The Board will consist of the President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, and Council Representatives as voting members and any appointed officers as non-voting members. Any elected officers of the Board may be recalled. Upon presentation of a petition signed by 20% of the class members in good standing or by two-thirds of the Executive Board, the Class President must call a class meeting within fifteen class days. The officers can be recalled only if two-thirds of the class votes affirmatively for his dismissal. This Executive Board must meet at least once during each calendar month when regular class sessions are held and must call at least two class meetings each semester.

The Executive Board will have the power to suspend the members of the class "for good and substantial reason." However, the person affected has the right of appeal to the Student Council, which may reverse the Board's decision.

Special Committee

The Executive Board may set up special committees to assist in special functions. It may also, in case of emergency, abrogate the decision of a Class Meeting and substitute its own action as seems best in keeping with the original intent of the Meeting. The Class President must then report at the next class meeting the decision abrogated, the action substituted, and the reasons for which the Executive Board acted in such manner.

At The Post

The minutes of the meetings of the Student Council will be posted in the future for examination and discussion by the students.

Since their beginning at Loyola three years ago, the individual classes have become increasingly active in serving the students and furthering the aims of the school. Students are urged to make their feelings known to their council representatives on this matter.

The Skeptic Tank

by "Stogie" Clarke

As the sign says, this is the place where I, the skeptic, reside. And we won't have to scrape the bottom of the barrel (or the tank, as the case may be) to find things to be skeptical over. We can always attack new inventions to discourage young men of promise; e.g., a mechanical soldier to eliminate the draft. But with all this talk about men losing jobs, I valiantly fought to have this invention suppressed. I did the same with the car engine that ran on water. Yes, there is a place for you on my staff of skeptics. There is a growing need for more people to sit and tell others that this and that can't be done. People are far too anxious to move ahead. Slow down and live the fuller, richer, rougher life. Then I can buy up all the inventions that were suppressed, quit the club, and rule the world with all the advances that only I will have. I know what you're thinking! See? You're skeptical already! Excellent, you're in the club. Next week I shall deal with dental health. Other topics may be high fi, success, peace, happiness, etc. But to tell the truth, I'm skeptical over this column coming back! I hope it will be fun doing this, but the next wise guy who drains the sink while I'm down here gets a fat lip!

Booters Capture Opener; Face Eagles Tomorrow

Loyola's Soccer team opened its season on a good note last Monday by beating Roanoke 4 to 1. Denny Grabowski, last year's leading scorer, gave notice that he intends to hold on to this position by pumping in 3 of the 4 Greyhound goals. Another bright spot was the defensive work of Mike Elliott, Johnny Campbell, Vince Petroniero, Sam Amato and goalie Paul Cashour. They limited the Roanoke booters to only 1 shot in the first period and a half, and Roanoke picked up only a few more shots during the rest of the contest.

Leaders

On the other hand, the Hound offense, led by captain Joe Kosiork, Jack and Dennis Palmer, Carl Manfre and Grabowski, repeatedly fired shots at the Roanoke goal, keeping constant pressure on the visitors' defense.

Grabowski Scores

Grabowski opened the scoring at about midway in the second quarter when he pumped in a shot on an intercepted pass in front of the Roanoke goal. Roanoke tied the score in the third quarter on a free kick. Later in the third period Denny Grabowski got his second goal when the Roanoke goalie left the goal. Loyola banged in two more quick goals in the fourth quarter by Grabowski and Soph Jack Palmer to put the game on ice.

The booters will host American University here tomorrow at two-thirty. A continuation of the offensive handiwork exhibited Monday could pave the way for a long winning streak of course. The Greyhounds could use a few of the good breaks which failed to come their way during last year's hectic season.

Intramural Items

The Intramural Football League officially began last Friday with two games being played. Both of these contests featured newly formed freshman units competing against upperclass opponents.

The Sharks, a junior team, just managed to beat the freshman Gaels. Scoring on a pass from Mike Longo to Denny Rossi, the Sharks failed to get the extra point and held a slim 6-0 lead until late in the fourth quarter. The Gaels then knotted the score at 6-6 on a fine pass play. But the Gaels also failed in their bid for that winning extra point, and the Sharks were awarded the victory as a result of a greater number of first downs.

The other contest saw a reversal as the freshmen emerged victorious with the Dirty Dozen defeating a senior team, the Zorches, 12-0. The Zorches just couldn't get an attack moving, and were continually plagued with pass interceptions by the freshman secondary. The Dirty Dozen used speed and the fine passing of Mario Mussatto in their initial victory. Mario accounted for both of his team's scores by lofting touchdown tosses to Joe Leonard and Pete Siewerski.

Further action on Wednesday lists three games.

Crosscountry Victors

Hound Harriers Defeat Roanoke In Lidlifter

Last Monday afternoon, the Hound harriers opened their season on a winning note by downing visiting Roanoke by a narrow 27-28 margin (the low score wins in crosscountry.) It was the first time in the long rivalry between the two schools that the Greyhounds have beaten Roanoke. Last year, it was close as the meet ended in a 28-28 tie.

Hound Swimmers Set To Begin Practice Soon

Practice will begin very soon for the Hound swimming team, defending Mason-Dixon Conference Champs. For the information of the freshmen and any upperclassmen who may not be familiar with Loyola's swimming tradition, the Hound natators, under the leadership of coach Bill Klarnier, have copped seven M-D Championships in the last eleven years.

In spite of this outstanding record, many of Loyola's swimmers have had no high school experience. A fine example of such a swimmer is Jim Burns, the Hounds' Conference Champ in the 100 yd. backstroke who came to Loyola with no previous experience.

In view of these facts, coach Klarnier urges any interested freshmen or upperclassmen to try out for the team.

Team Effort

It was a fine team effort by the Hound runners which put the meet in the win column. The visiting Roanoke team took first and second places but Loyola's Denny Voith, Bill Jenkins, and Capt. Tom Kenney copped the next three spots. Following another Roanoke runner in sixth place came the Hounds' Hank McGraw and Bill May. However, the Greyhounds' final margin of victory was supplied by Mike Kenney who nosed out a Roanoke rival right at the finish line, clinching the meet for Loyola.

A. U. Next

The Harriers next meet is scheduled for this coming Tuesday afternoon. Their opponent will be American University. The meet was originally scheduled to be held at Evergreen, but now the locale has been changed to the Washington D.C. campus of the Eagles. The Hound runners will be out to keep their one meet winning streak alive.

CAPTAIN COURAGEOUS: Captain Joe Kosiorek of Loyola's fast moving soccer team kept the pressure on Roanoke's unfortunate goalie. The Hounds won the contest 4 to 1.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

by Phil Pierpont

This past week Loyola College sports moved into full swing as the soccer and cross-country teams began their seasons against Roanoke and the intramurals opened with the likes of the "Zorches" and "Dirty Dozen."

Every year at this time Loyola students are deluged with pleas to rally to the support of the school's teams, and that is as it should be. Varsity athletes do give freely of their time to represent Loyola in intercollegiate competition, and for the most part the student body supports their efforts. But, if you want genuine entertainment, to see a comedy of errors interspersed with high caliber athletics, the Greyhound highly recommends that the students take an active or spectator interest in intramural sports. In past years Nap Doherty's department has offered such high class teams as the "Moleskins" and "Foul Bagels," and this year will be no exception with such entries as the "Yoyos," the "Flopes," and the above mentioned pair.

In a serious vein, it should be recognized that the intramurals make a decided contribution to the college's overall morale.

Frosh Cagers To Enliven Hoop Season

Due to increased college enrollment, the National Collegiate Athletic Association rules will prevent freshmen from playing on the Varsity basketball team this season. This is a vital restriction for Loyola since freshmen have played important roles in the Greyhound cause in years gone by. Last seasons frosh trio of Pat Flynn, Marty Maher and Billy Morris, who impressed many with their ability and poise, will attest to this fact.

This year coach Nap Doherty will forsake his "B"-squad system of last season and field an all freshman basketball team with the hope and intention that its members will develop into future varsity players. The tallest of this year's freshmen prospects is 6' 3" Bob Lister from Westminster, Maryland. A strong rebounder with a soft shooting touch, Bob played his high school ball for St. John's high in Westminster.

Mike (Mickey) Obrien from LaSalle high school in Philadelphia and Charlie Lawrence from Mahanoy City high in Pennsylvania are a pair of six footer's who show definite promise. Tom Brown, a 6' 11" hustler from Loyola high school is expected to nail down a back court berth. These four men provide a solid nucleus around which a fine freshman basketball team could be built.
